Obedience of a Roman Soldier.

I once made a visit to an old city which had been burried by an earthquake nearly two thousand years ago. It is called Pompeii, and is about fifteen miles from the city of Naples. During the earthquake which destroyed Pompeii, an immense quantity of ashes and burning cinders were thrown out from the crater of Mout Vesuvius, a volcano about two miles off. The wind blew these ashes and cinders directly over the doomed city, burning and destroying all the roofs of the houses, and covering up the walls about forty f et deep, so that for more than fifteen hundred years nobody knew where the city had stood. This place was all covered over with trees and bushses; but it was accidentally discovered about one hundred years ago, and people have been busily at work since that time digging it out. There they find the streets, the pavements and brick walls of the stores and houses, besides an immense variety of curious things, such as statues, paintings, mirrors, spoons, knives, combs, etc. These curious things have been taken away and safely placed in the museum at Naples.

It is thought that when the ashes began to fall on the city the people fled from their homes, so that very few lives were lost.

When I visited or walked about its old streets, among other things I saw in the court yard of one of the excavated public buildings a dark colored place on the wall, about as high as my head. The guide, who went about to explain things, told me that this dark spot was caused by a human skeleton, which, in digging out this building, they found leaning against the wall at this place. It was the skeleton of a soldier, for on his head was still found a brazen helmet, and at his feet the point of a spear, his sword and other pieces of his armor. It had fallen to this soldier's lot to stand on guard before that public building on the day of the great eruption which covered up the city.

As it was forbidden a Roman soldier, under pain of death, to desert his post without orders, this faithful sentinel, with his sword by his side and his spear at his shoulder, had paced up and down before that house all that terrible day He saw the terrified inhabitants hurrying away from their pleasant homes, but he alone stood, firm as a rock, with the falling ashes heaped around him, and the fiery cinders beating like hail on his helmet. He had received no orders to leave, and up and down he continued his firm and undaunted step. At last, overcome by the fiery tempest, he grasped firmly in his hand his faithful weapon, leaned himself against the wall and died like a brave man at his post. The next day I went into the Museum at Naples and saw the skull of the soldier still sticking in his brazen helmet, and on a shelf near by lay pieces of his bones and fragments of his broken armor.

What a beautiful exhibition of heroic obedience was the conduct of that Roman soldier. As I gazed on the spot where he died and listened to the simple story of his faithfulness, and especially as I afterwards took the sad relics of his fate in my hands in the Museum, I was more deeply impressed by these memorials of a true hero than by all the rest of the curious things which I saw in Pompeii.

Obedience in a soldier is a cardinal virtue. It is of all other qualities the first and most important. But it is a beatiful trait of character among other people besides soldiers, and especially in children. I have seen children openly disobey their parents. This is a sad sight; for if a child will not obey his parents it is very likely that he will never learn to obey God. But let children be early taught promptly to obey their parents and they are in the path of learning to submit to the will of the great Parent above. The obedience which God requires is implicit; that is, his children are to obey him in all things, whether they can understand the reason for it or not. The Roman soldier dying at his post rather than disobey his orders, is a faithful illustration of that obedience which all God's creatures should render to Him.—Tales for Children.

AN Englishman and a Yankee being once in a promiscuous company, the latter was struck by some old air sung by the former that he asked the name of it.

"Its the tune the old cow died on," was the response.

The Yankee struck up Yankee Doodle.

"What's that?" asked the Englishman.

"That's the tune old Bull died on," was the prompt reply.

ACTION.—Indolence is a delightful but distressing state; you must be doing something to be happy. Action is no less necessary than thought to the instinctive tendencies of the human frame.

Pay-Day.

FROM THE FRENCH.

It was pay-day, and a journeyman carpenter, Robert by name heving just received his fortnight's wages, had emptied some pint measures with his comrades, so that he was, if not completely drunk, at least 'half seas over,' as they say. Returning home, our friend perceived in the window of a junk-shop a figure turned in wood, with a grotesque face, such as they make at Nuremberg, and which grimaced in such a singular manner that, after having examined it some, he said to the merchant:

"Your Punch pleases me; for how much will you sell him?"

To tell a pawnbroker that you envy him his goods, is not the means of getting them at a fair price; therefore this man hastened to offer this soiled and blackened figure for six francs, which in reality was worth but fifty centimes.

"Six francs; so be it," replied the carpenter; "it isn't a question of life and death." And he took the object, for which he paid the last farthing.

On arriving at home he gave his money to his housewife, a superior woman, who at first was indignant at seeing him enter in such a state, and much more excited upon finding a deficiet of more than seven francs in the fortnight's wages which he brought her.

"Come, come, Mother Tantrip," said the carpenter, smilling, "don't be so angry—I have not drunk it all; I made a purchase on the way which will please you" Saying this, he drew from his pocket the little figure, which he placed on the mantel shelf with a satisfied air.

"What! is that the purchase in question? Beautiful filth, my faith!" And the woman, in the height of her exasperation when told that it cost six francs, seized the wooden image and threw it on the floor with such force as to break it in pieces; but judge of the astonishment of the carpenter and his wife on seeing in the midst of the ruins a little folded paper, and in soon recognizing it as a note for one thousand francs!

The figure was nothing but a box, bought without doubt in some executory sale, and perhaps the note for one thousand francs had passed unconsciously into many hands since it was thrust into its hiding-place.

My wife stood before the lookin' glass fussin up her hair.

"What air you doin' Betsey?" I inquired.

"Doin' up my back hair," she replied.

"Betsey," sed I, with a stern air, "Betsey, you're too old to think of such frivolities as back hair"

"Too old! too old!" she screamed, "too old, you Bald headed idiot! You haint got hair enuff onto your head to make a decent wig for a single-breasted grasshopper."

The rebook was severe, but merited. Hens4th I shall let my wife's back hair alone. You heared me.

My little dawter if growin' quite rapid and begins to scrootinize clotin' with young men inside uv it putty clost. I observe, too, that she twists pieces of paper around her hair at nights, and won't let me put my arms around her any more for fear I'll mus her. "Your mother wasn't afraid I'd muss her when she was your age, my child," sed I, one day, with a slight twinkle in my dark bay eye.

"No," riplied my little dawter, "she probably liked it.

You ain't goin to fool female Young America much. You may gamble on that.

VALUABLE RECEIPTS.—Is your son bright? And did he take the first prize in the school? Then take him out of school at once and set him at work.

Is he dull and lazy, overfed and sleepy? Stop his meat and other rich food, make him get up earlier, bathe more thoroughly, drink no coffee, encourage him in active plays, and make certain that his lessons are not neglected.

Is your wife nervous, unhappy and fretful? Try upon her the tenderness and attentions of your honeymoon. Remember that love is the best of all medicines for women, and that no wife's brow ever corrogates, while she lives in the sunshine of her husband's heart. Her thousand and one little vexatious cares are exceedingly exhaustive, and you must not forget that new carriages and dresses will fail to support her. If she be a true woman, these things she will ever regard as mere toys, when compared with the affectionate attentions of the husband of her choice.

Little Country Journals.

Very often men are heard sneering at "little country papers," as being of no use or advantage to the localities in which they are published—as, in fact, of no more utility than the fifth wheel of a coach. Such remarks, however, are uttered thoughtlessly and without reflection, besides being illiberal to the enterprise of publishers, whose business is often less remunerative than any other in community. The printing office and the village journal—little though it may be—are as indispensable adjuncts to the growth, prosperity and fame of a country town as almost any other branch of business that can be named. For an important district in these United States to be without its local newspaper, is to remain in obscurity and unknown to the world at large. Property owners and business men, in localities where newspapers are published, derive much benefit from the existence of a local press. It advertises the town, and makes known the inducements which it offers to the settler—proclaiming also the industrial resources of the neighborhood, thus inviting and causing an increase of population, and consequently augmenting property, wealth and prosperity. These are incontrovertable facts, observed in the history of all our growing towns. Yet men will talk about "little country papers" sneeringly, as if community derived no benefit from their existence. So, too, some men will argue that education is of no advantage to a man; and there are even those who poohpooh at the value of all our modern discoveries and improvements in science and art, and who stoutly maintain that the "good old times" of ignorance were the best—the golden age of the world. Often, indeed, we admit, the village journal is a very inferior vehicle of information, and deserving of the contempt bestowed upon it; but in California, at least, this is seldom the case. Here, the weekly issues of our numerous country papers show many instances of more than mediocre talent employed in the editorial sanctum; and the typography of not a few of them is fully equal to that of city journals. Whatever captious people may say to the contrary, the influence of the country papers is felt, and the educated and refined of community encourage and sustain them. In the language of a printer poet:

"The Pen and the Press, blest alliance! combined
To soften the heart and enlighten the mind:
For that to the treasures knowledge gave birth,
And this sent them forth to the ends of the earth.
Their battles for truth were triumphant indeed,
And the rod of the tyrant was snapped like a reed,
They were made to exalt us, to teach us, to bless,
Those invincible brothers—the PEN and the PRESS."—Mountain Messenger.

HOWLED FAST BELOW.—A party of Irishmen, once upon a time, contracted to clear a very deep well. Having none of the usual conveniences employed for such purposes, they were at a loss to get one of their party on a little ledge near the bottom to assist in the process of getting out water, mud, etc At last Jimmy Phelan, a Herculean fellow, proposed a plan which was considered just the thing.

It was this:

Jimmy was to clasp big fists around the windlass; then another of the party was to climb down and hold on by his legs, and so on until the last man should be able to leap upon the ledge.

Being slightly corned with liquor, the party prepared for the descent, without stopping to consider the difficulties involved in the adventure

With bared breast, and sleeves tucked up, Jimmy seized the round portion of the windlass directly over the well and swung himself over. Another of the party crept down Jimmy's body and grasped him by the boots. After several more had followed suit, and the human chain began to stretch far into the well, Jimmy became alive to one great difficulty; the windless did not afford him a good hold in the first place, and the weight was getting intolerable.

At last human sinew could stand it no longer, and Jimmy hailed the lower link in the chain with:

Suiting the action to the words, he released his hold, when of course, the whole party was precipitated to the bottom of the well. As luck would have it, there was more mud than water where the Hibernians lit, and they wisely considered themselves particularly fortunate in escaping without actual loss of either life or limb.

JOSEY, a little boy, being rather remiss in his Sunday-school lessons, the teacher remarked:

"Why, Josey, you have not a very good memory, have you?"

"No ma'am," replied he, "but I've got a first rate forgettery."

MRS. PARTINGTON ON SCULPTURE.—"What a study for a sculpin!" said Mrs. Partington, on board the Chelsea ferryboat, as she saw a row of nude boys standing on a raft near the ferry, awaiting the moment to take a plunge. Their clear cutical gleaming in the sun, and muscular beauty and youthful grace revealed in every line.

"What a study for a sculpin! and how I love to see the little dears so enjoying themselves!"

"Little dears!" said old Roger, "I should say they were little bares."

The Brahmin, who was familiar with like scenes on the banks of the Ganges, said not a word.

"How shockingly improper," said Miss Prim, turning away her eyes, "don't you think it is very improper, Mrs. Partington?"

Mrs. P. looked again.

"Well," said she, "I didn't see that it was, till you spoke of it—perhaps it is, but may be the poor child was crippled."

"I mean the impropriety of going into the water before folks," persisted Miss Prim.

"Oh that is quite another thing," said Mrs. Partington, smilling, "and depends how we look upon it. If the boys have no idea of impropriety, and think we do not look at them, I don't see why we should see an impurity. This is a queer world, where we swallow mountains of impropriety in private and choke on a bare little boy."

She took a pinch of snuff as Miss Prim went into the cabin, and Ike looked longingly at the boys, as they plunged like frogs beneath the surface, and broke two buttons from his jacket. as half forgetful, he tried to strip it off to follow them. 'Twas very natural.—Boston Gazette.

RULES FOR YOUNG MEN.—The world estimates men by their success in life, and general consent, success is evidence of superiority.

Never, under any circumstance, assume a responsibility you can avoid consistently with your duty to yourself and others.

Base all your actions upon a principle of right; preserve your integrity of character, and in doing this never recon the cost.

Remember that self-interest is more likely to warp your judgement than all other circumstances combined; therefore look well to your duty when your interest is concerned.

Never make money at the expense of your repatation.

Be neither lavish nor niggardly; of the two avoid the latter. A mean man is universally dispised, but public favor is a stepingstone to preferment—therefore generous feelings should be cultivated.

Let your expenses be such as to leave a balance in your pocket. Ready money is a friend in need.

Keep clear of the law; for even if you gane your case, you are generally a looser.

Never relate your misfortunes, and never grieve over what you cannot help.

NEAR Newark, N. J, lived a very pious family, who had taken an orphan to raise, who, by the way, was rather underwitted. He had imbibed very strict views on religious matters, however and once asked his mother if she didn't think it wrong for the old farmers to come to church to fall asleep, paying no better regard to the servisce. She replied, she did. Accordingly, before going to church the next Sunday, he filled his pockets with apples One baldheaded old man, who invariably went to sleep, during the sermon, particularly attracted his attention. Seeing him at last nodding, and giving nasal evidence of his being in the land of dreams, he hauled off, and took the astonished sleeper, with an apple, square on the top of his bald pate. The minister and aroused congregation at once turned around, and indignantly gazed at the boy, who merely said to the preacher, as he took another apple in his hand, with a sober honest expression of countenance: "You preach, I'll keep 'em awake."

GRIEF.—An unfortunate victim of unrequited love sings this lamentable strain:

"Ill throw myself into the deep briny ocean where mud-eels and cat-fish on my body shall riot, and flounders and flatfish select me for diet; there soundly I'll slumber beneath the rough billows, and crabs without number shall crawl o'er my pillow. But my spirit shall wander through gay coral bowers, and frisk with the mermaids—it shall, by the powers."

"WHAT do they mean by a 'cat and dog life?'" said a husband to his angry wife.

"Look at Carlo and Grimalkin asleep upon the rug together I wish men lived half so peacibly together."

"Stop," said the lady, "tie them together, and then see how well they will agree."

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, JULY 26, 1862.

August Law Calender.

August 4—Board of Supervisors.
" 11—District Court.
" 11—Board of Equalization.
" 13—Special Term of Probate Court.

NEXT week we are promised a full calender of the cases for trial before the District Court at the August term.

ANOTHER MILL.—The Flour Mill, now being erected at Woodland, is rapidly approaching a state of completion.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—We acknowledge the receipt of a Season Ticket from the State Agricultural Society. We shall try and be on hand.

FINE FRUIT.—A. J Brewster has sent us some Peaches and Apples, the finest we have seen this season. They were grown about 1½ miles below this place on the Sacramento river, in Sutter county.

HON. M. S. Latham, U. S. Senator, will accept our thanks for a copy of his speech on the Pacific Railroad; also debate in the Senate on the Steamship line from California to China.

PRIMARY MEETINGS.—The Democratic Primary Meetings will take place to-day at 2 o'clock, at the different precincts, to choose delegates to a County Convention to meet on the 2d August.

LAWS OF 1862.—We received a copy of the Acts of the last Legislature, from B. P. Avery, State Printer. It is got up in workmanlike style, and, considering the size of the volume, much dispatch is exhibited in getting it out thus early. We are under many obligations for the favor.

CORRECTION.—In our issue of the 5th we mentioned the case of assault, by Benj. Scott, on the person of Fletcher, and erroniously stated it in connection with the elopement of Fletcher's wife. We learn the assault by Mr. Scott, took place some days previous to the elopement, and was in no way connected with that event.

CAUGHT.—A Chinaman, who robbed Mr. Barnes of about $400, was caught and committed to jail last Saturday to answer before the next Court of Sessions. All the money, except about two dollars, was found on his person He will represent this county in the next Pen-assembly at San Quentin.

COUNTY SEAT.—Our special correspondent at Woodland informs us, with sentimental brevity, that "this Sylvan capital stands peacefully among the oak groves, and in the cool shades of widely branching trees, listens calmly to the rattling and whizzing of Headers and Threshing machines, intermingled with an occasional scream from the whistle of a Steam Threshing machine, that goes about doing good in this vicinity.

GUILTY.—In the two cases of The People against Eli Froom, charged with assault and battery on Fletcher, whose case—intermingled with an elopement—we mentioned a fortnight ago, the defendant was found guilty after four trials. In the first case, the defendant was fined $50, and in the last, $25; which sums, addded to the cost of two "hung juries" will make the two skirmishes average a cost of seventy five dollars apiece.

HOT.—Old citizens, who dislike to admit that in these degenerate times we can have any fried chicken, or warm weather, or anything else as good as such things were in their early days, have been found willing to concede that the weather, during last Monday afternoon and night, was almost as hot as it ever gets to be. On such occasions, the residents of Knight's Landing and the farms along the Sacramento river, have occasion to be thankful for the river breeze.

TAXES AHEAD.—By your defective Revenue Law the Clerk of the Board of Equalization is only authorized to give notice after the first Monday in August, that on the second Monday of that month the Board will meet to equalize taxes. This notice would be published in our issue of Saturday—only two days before the time at which this important matter is to be attended to. So we anticipate the legal notice, which will appear too late, and warn our tax payers that if they have any objections to make to their assessments, they can present them to the Board of Equalization, at Woodland, on Monday, August 11th, or on such following days as the Board may adjourn to.

Something Wrong.

We understand D. W. Welty is now acting as Deputy District Attorney engaged in conducting suits against delinquent tax-payers. We also learn these suits are all brought at Washington, to accommodate the convenience of Mr. Welty, who is a Sacramento Lawyer. When the people of Yolo elected a District Attorney, it was not a part of the understanding that a citizen of Sacramento was to do the business, while the incumbent elected was teaching a country school; but such seems to be the case, and delinquents residing in the extreme ends of the county, have to make trips to Washington to defend their interest, and that, too, when the County Seat is both accessible and located in the center of the county. If a man is elected to an office, he is either unable or incompetent to discharge the duties of, he should have good sense enough to resign, if he does not, the Board of Supervisors should see to it, that the office is declared vacant, and a suitable person—a citizen of the county—put in his stead. There are several attorneys in the county who are both capable and willing, to discharge all the duties of County Attorney, and they will bring these suits as near as reasonably can be required to the place where the property taxed is situated; at all events, they would not go to Washington, unless for the especial convenience of those delinquents who live in that vicinity. It is time this sub system was put an end to in the Attorney's office; at least let us have some man, selected by the county, who will not only attend to delinquent taxes—which, by the way, should have been done months ago—but also be in readiness to attend to all criminal cases, both in Justice's courts and elsewhere, when required.

Items for Republicans.

According to Congressman Stephens, of the House Finance Committee, there is the trifling sum of $180,000,000 of public money still unaccounted for. Who stole it? That's the question.—Ex.

Every Black Republican that could get a finger on the Government Treasury has stole it. It is a fundamental principle of the Republican party to pilfer the Treasury of Uncle Sam and then damn the Government because it don't give them a chance to get more Cameron got a little, only $30.000,000, and then received a foreign mission where he can enjoy his ill gotten gains. Oh! what patriotism.—Auburn Advocate.

The Committee raised under the authority of the House of Representatives, to investigate charges made against Simon Cameron, late Secretary of War, and Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy, offers the following resolution:

"Resolved, That Simon Cameron, late Secretary of War, by investing Alexander Cummings with the control of large sums of the public money, and authority so purchase military supplies without restriction, without requiring from him any guarantee for the faithful performance of his duties, when the services of competent public officers were available, and by involving the Government in a vast number of contracts with persons not legitimately engaged in the business pertaining to the subject matter of such contracts, especially in the purchase of arms for future delivery, has adopted a policy highly injurious to the public service, and deserves the censure of this House."

The present Secretary of the Navy, Gideon Welles, in connection with his brother-in-law, Geo. D. Morgan, has unlawfully extorted from the tax-payers of the Government, $70,000 of their money. With neither justification nor restriction on his part, he yet retains his seat at the board of the Cabinet council, wears fine linen, and fares sumptuously every day, while the wives and children of soldiers have died in the great philanthropic cities of the North for the want of bread.

RUMOR.—The names of the following gentlemen are heard in connection with the office of County Judge: I. N. Hoag, Harrison Gwinn, A. P. McCarty, J. A. Hutton, J. J. Deming, and L. R. Hopkins. We presume that none of these gentlemen have authorized their names to be used in this connection, but have no doubt but that their constituents will freely handle and appropriate some two or more of them, for use as candidates in the approaching election.

MORTGAGE OF THE SAN JOSE RAILROAD.—The San Francisco Bulletin, says the San Jose Railroad has just been mortgaged to Lawrence & Houseworth to secure $1,500,000 of the Company's bonds, in accordance with a contract entered into with that firm, whereby the Company bound itself to pay $2,000,000 for the road when completed and in perfect running order. This contract was entered into in October, 1860, and the road was to be ready in three years; $500,000 was to be paid in cash.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, July 17.—President Lincoln's visit to the army has stimulated the soldiers to new vigor.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The Petersburg Va. Express gives an account of the planting of eight guns on the James river, and firing on the Federal transports, and says McClellan's position, in this way, may be rendered wholy untenable, as no river of the South offers more advantages for this mode of warfare than the James. The Express is gratified to perceive Confederate authorities are determined not to allow such advantages to go unimproved.

MEMPHIS, July 16.—The Grenada Miss. Appeal has a New Orleans dispatch denying the truth of the reported recapture of Baton Rouge by Van Dorn. It says the canard was for financial purposes.

The same paper says the rebel army of Mississippi is rapidly swelling, and an important movement of some kind is believed to be on foot.

Work upon the fortifications at this place is going on rapidly. The works are formidable, encircling the entire city.

Gen. Villepigne, in command at Panola, Miss, has issued orders prohibiting the burning of any more bridges on the Mississippi & Tennessee Railroad. Printed circulars have also been issued prohibiting the burning of cotton south of a point thirty miles below this city. The Confederate pickets have been seen of late about six miles below the city.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The House adjourned sine die at two o'clock P. M. to-day. Nearly the entire Senate session to day was spent in executive session. The list of confirmations is very large.

The President has approved the Confiscation Act, and the resolution supplementary thereto.

MEMPHIS, July 16.—A dispatch, dated Charleston, July 10th, says:

The enemy landed in force yesterday on the main land, near Port Royal ferry, as if for another attack on the Charleston and Savannah Railroad. They retreated on the approach of our troops.

NEW YORK July 18.—The Tribune's Washington dispatch says: We have advices from Warrenton dated yesterday, to the effect that Gen. Hatch had occupied Gordonsville This created great consternation among the leading rebels at Warrenton, who had not the least idea that Gen. Pope would reach that point without a great battle.

CAIRO, July 18.—An officer direct from Curtis' army confirms the reports that Price's forces had crossed the Mississippi. According to reports brought to Curtis, the passage has been effected by small parties, in flat-boats and skiffs, at different points within the past ten days.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The Herald's Washington dispatch says: Lieut. Col. Pierson, of the Second New York Regiment, arrived yesterday. He left the front of our army on the Peninsula on Thursday morning, 17th. At that time no rebel forces were within fourteen miles on this side of James River; but a balloon reconnissance discovered a large number of rebels on the south side, near City Point. The army is represented to be in good condition, and with confidence unimpaired in McClellan. It is believed however that the James river will be blockaded by the rebels at the bluffs at Claremont.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Roanoke from New Orleans, on the 12th, has arrived.

Gen. Shepley had received the appointment of Military Governor of Louisiana.

Reverly Johnson had arrived.

Arms, etc., for five Louisiana regiments had arrived at New Orleans, and the organization had commenced with a prospect of success.

A rebel camp at Oriel Bridge had been broken up, and several prisoners taken.

The Bombardment of Galveston has not yet commenced.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—A free colored man who escaped from Richmond, says the rebel loss in the seven days battle was 32,000. Gen. Ewell was severely wounded. Gen. Johnson had experienced a relapse, and mortification had set in. The wound, it was feared, would prove fatal.

Richmond papers of the 18th contain an account of the death of Gen. Twiggs at Augusta Island, on the 15th.

A rumor was current at Richmond that Davis has demanded the surrender of Butler, for hanging Munford. If refused, Davis would hang one of our captured Generals.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Specials to the New York papers says it is stated that the President has called a meeting of all the Generals to whom Washington is accessible. The Confiscation Bill is to be laid before them, and the President's determination on points left to his discretion is to be explained. Those who are not willing to enforce the law in letter and spirit, promptly and cheerfully are to have leave to resign.

CAIRO, July 21.—A dispatch boat arrived at Memphis on Saturday from Vicksburg. The reported escape of the rebel boat Arkansas, from Yazoo river, is correct. On Tuesday morning the gunboats Carondolt and Tyler, with the ram Lancaster, started up the Yazoo on a reconnoitering expedition. Eight miles from the mouth they discovered and suddenly came upon the iron-clad rebel gunboat Arkansas, which immediately opened upon our boats with 68-pounders. Both of our boats maintained a gallant fight at close quarters for a time, but the channel of the river preventing successful maneuvering, they gradually returned to the mouth of the river, followed by the Arkansas. In passing over the bar at the mouth of the river, the Carondelet made a rush at the Arkansas, succeeding in grappling her. An attempt was made to board, but this was repelled by a stream of hot water from the latter. About the same time both vessels ran aground. The shock separated them, and the Arkansas succeeded in getting off. Immediately she started down the river. The Tyler, seeing this passed her, keeping up a running fight with her greatly superior adversary. Our fleet before Vicksburg, with a number of transports, ammunition boats, rams and mortars, were lying scattered over a space of nearly two miles. None of the gunboats had steam up. The entire fleet was so scattered that but few could fire. The Arkansas passed without danger, hitting some of our own boats as she approached. Such of them as could do so, opened fire, but her heavy plating resisted most of the shots. One eleven inch solid shot struck her larboard bow, passing through under the plating, ripping it up for a considerale distance. What further damage was done is not known. The Arkansas continued firing during the whole passage through the fleet. The Benton was struck once. The ram Lancaster also received a shot underneath her boilers. The Tyler, which engaged the Arkansas for nearly an hour and a half, was considerably damaged. The entire Federal loss, as far as known, is twelve killed and fifeen wounded, of whom five or six will probably die. The Arkansas now lies under the protection of the batteries of Vicksburg.

FT MONROE, July 19.—Information from Suffolk says some excitement prevails there on account of rumors that the rebels are building bridges across the Blackwater river. It is believed to be their intention to make an attack soon.

NASHVILLE, July 21.—Three bridges were burned to day within eight miles of this city, on the Chattanooga road. The enemy's force under Forest is only five miles from the city. Some of our pickets were captured on the Lebanon road, five miles out, this evening. Considerable excitement prevails.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—J. S. Phelps of Missouri has been appointed Military Governor of Arkansas, with full powers to re-establish the authority of the Government therein, in accordance with the Constitution.

Specials to the New York papers say: Advices from Warrenton to this evening report that Gen. Hatch is stated to have reached Charlottesville, and cut off the last important source of rebel supplies. These prompt movements, and Pope's recent orders, inspire admiration for him among all men. In obedience to the spirit of Pope's instructions, the rich, aristocratic rebels of Warrenton have already been placed under contribution for the support of the National army. Leading families have received notice that all their spare bedding will be required for our sick soldiers. All the unoccupied rooms in their mansions, and if necessary, the entire building, will be used as hospitals.

There is reason to believe that the President will soon lay down certain rules for the conduct of the war—such rules as any one sincerely desirous of carrying out the principles of the Confiscation Act would adopt and enforce.

It is now positively known that the President, under the advice of General Scott, and with the acquiescence of McClellan, has called Halleck to Washington, to act as General in chief of the Armies of the U. S. He will have control of operations in the field, thus relieving Stanton from his official business.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—Gen Halleck left for Washington last evening, accompanied by part of his staff.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—An arrival from Gen. Hatch's command reports that the rebels under General Ewell are at Gordonsville. Their number is not stated.

General Pope telegraphs to the War Department that the cavalry expedition under Gen. King left Fredericksburg at 7 o'clock on the evening of the 19th, and after a forced march, made a descent at daylight on Sunday on the Virginia Central Railroad, at bever Dam Creek, 25 miles west of Hanover Junction and 35 miles from Richmond. They destroyed the railroad and telegraph for several miles and burned the depot, which contained a large amount of ammunition and other valuable property. The whole country was thrown into a great state of alarm One private on our side was wounded. The cavalry marched eighty miles in thirty hours.

MEMPHIS, July 19.—On the night of the same day that the Arkansas performed the feat of running the gauntlet of the fleet, Farragut made an ineffectual attempt to sink her. His entire fleet passed down the river. Each vessel poured a broadside into her in passing. A reconnoisance next morning showed the Arkansas undergoing repairs, but she didn't seem to be much damaged. The rebels acknowledge that one seven-inch steel pointed shell went through her, but assert that this was the only damage sustained.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 19.—The pursuit of Morgan's command was continued yesterday. About noon, at Paris, the expedition under Gen. Smith came up with Morgan and a fight ensued. Ten or fifteen of Morgan's men were killed and twelve taken prisoners. The rebels broke for Winchester, closely pursued by Smith. Federal loss nothing.

NEW YORK, July 22.—A Newbern, N. C, letter of the 15th says: Hamilton, N. C., was captured on the 9th by three of our gunboats and a company of Hawkin's Zouaves, under Capt. Holmes. It was defended by a regiment of cavalry, supported by a strong force of infantry and artillery and a rebel fort, which commanded the river there. There were numerous masked batteries along the river, and also a rebel steamer filled with sharpshooters. While the gunboats attacked the men in the batteries, the Zouaves advanced on the town, accompanied by detachments from the gunboats. The fort was taken by a charge and also the town. The rebel steamer was captured by the gunboats, whose fire drove her occupants overboard. We had only one man killed, but quite a number wounded. The victory is of importance, inasmuch as it clears the way to Weldon. It is impossible to estimate the loss of the enemy, who said they left forty or fifty dead on the field.

NEW YORK, July 22.—It is ascertained that the rebel Gen Ewell, with three brigades, have occupied Gordonsville, a position which, for not taking last week Gen. Hatch was severely censured. Gen. Pope is still in washington, awaiting, by desire of the President, the arrival of Gen. Hallack.

A Ft Monroe letter of the 20th states that Beauregard is in command of 30,000 men on the south side of James river, between City Point and Richmond, to cover the rebel forts.

CHICAGO, July 18.—The Nashville Union of the 16th says: The Michigan Regiment was taken completely by surprise, and were in the hands of the enemy almost before a gun was fired. The camp of the Third Minnesota was a mile from the camp of the Michigan regiment. Our killed numbered from 80 to 100, with a number wounded. Hewitt's battery fought bravely until the ammunition was entirely spent. Our officers were taken South—probably to Chattanooga. The privates were paroled. Col. Duffield was mortally wounded.

ST LOUIS, July 18.—Accounts from Arkansas represent that the rebels are gathering under McBride at Yellsville, for a raid into Missouri. They are reported 7,000 strong, which is probably exaggerated. It is said that Hindman will advance into Southeastern Missouri some day. Preparations are in progress to thwart these movements. Bushwhackers are still acting in Johnson and Lafayette counties.

In the late defeat sustained by the rebels in the Indian Territory, they lost over 200 prisoners, a large number of horses and ponies, 1,500 head of cattle, 500 stand of arms, and a large quantity of camp equipage.

It is reported that John Ross, chief of the Cherokee nation, is about to join the Federals with 1,500 of his men.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Gen. Butler at New Orleans has sequestered the property of Gen. Twiggs, to be held to await the action of the United States Government.

THE Annual Fair of the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Society will be held on the 10th, 11th and 12th days of September.

THE S. F. Bay District Agricultural Society announce their next Annual Fair at Oakland, commencing Oct 7th.

THE balance on hand in the State Treasury on the 19th of July was $147,408 27.

ESCAPE FROM SAN QUENTIN.—The S. F. correspondent of the Bee says: About 2 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd, your reporter left for the State Prison on steamer Clinton, in company with a detachment of 40 mounted men of Capt. DeMerritt's Sacramento Cavalry, a detachment of police force under Chief Burke, armed and mounted, and about 50 citizens. They arrived at the prison at 5 o'clock, and found everything quiet, and Gov Chellis in his room asleep. We learned that at 1.45 noonday, about 20 of the prisoners, working outside in the brick-yard, made a brake from their guard, ran whooping around to the northern gate, and on their way entered Lieut. Governor Chellis' rooms and seized him—took him to the gate and demanded that he order it be opened. He ordered the guard, named Murphy, who was armed only with a club, to open it, which he refused to do, but was finally overpowered and badly beaten about the head. They then wrenched off the lock, and all who wished pessed out this gate, whooping and yelling. They went to the armory and possessed themselves of all the arms and ammunition, still keeping the Governor with them—then passed around towards the southern entrance, which was commanded by a cannon, under the charge of Capt. Watson, loaded with 180 Minnie balls and grape. The Governor ordered him not to fire upon them. The gun was fired in the oppasite direction, then spiked. They threw him and the cannon over a precipice of thirty feet. The Captain's arm was broken. About 300 were out at this time. Messengers were dispatched to San Rafael, and aroused all the country, who headed them off, and kept them on the peninsula. The party with the Governor ran with him four miles, and were pursued by five horsemen, who were constantly firing on them They made a desperate dash, released the Governor, and brought him in. Six are known to be dead We have the names of three—viz: Oliver Gray, the Chico robber; James Townsend and W. Harris. Thirty attempted to escape on the sloop Pike County, but a cannon was brought to bear on them and they surrendered.

BUCKEYE MOWER.
Farmers Buy the Best Machine!!!
THE Buckeye has proved itself to be the best Mower, and MOWER & REAPER COMBINED,
That has ever yet been brought into use. It has the following advantages over other Machines:
It has two driving wheels which support the whole weight of the frame, gearing, driver and raker.
It has a double hinged finger-bar, belonging exclusively to the Buckeye Mower, which conforms to all varieties of surface, and can be easily raised to pass obstructions.
It has no cog gearing in the driving wheels—it is entirely free from side draft—the draft is lighter than ordinary ploughing.
As a REAPER, it has all the advantages of the Mower. The Reed is attached with a flexible joint, which allows it to follow all the movements of the Platform on uneven ground. The platform is readily adjusted to any required height of cut. The weight of the Raker is directly over the axel of the machine instead of being carried on the Platform, where it adds greatly to the side draft. It has many other Improvements over the old style Mower and Reapers.
WE HAVE ALSO THE CELEBRATED IMPROVED

THE

Knight's Landing News.

PRINTING AT SEA.—Com. Goldsborough has on board his flag ship, the Minnesota, a complete printing press and apparatus by means of which he strikes off copies of all his orders, letters and dispatches for the seventy vessels of his fleet, thereby economizing time and labor, and avoiding errors.

THE DYING LOOK.—The last look of the dying man is like the last ray of the setting sun, that glides gently in its farewell kiss to the world it is soon to leave—not to sink into the dark night of an eternal grave, as poor pagan antiquity feared, but to rise brighter anew in another and better world.

A PUBLISHER of a newspaper out West, in the first issue of his journal, returned thanks to those who loaned him the pecuniary means, and to Heaven that there is no law in the State enforcing imprisonment for debt.

"I PRESUME you wont charge anything for just re-membering me," said a one-legged sailor to a wooden leg manufacturer.

"CAUGHT in her own net," as the man said when he saw one of the fair sex hitched in her crinoline.

IN warm and dry weather, slippers become a woman. In icy weather, women becomes a slipper.

WHEN you see a drunken rebel black with mud, you may conclude that he has dyied in the last ditch.

"So far, so good," as the boy said when he had finished the first pot of his mother's jam.

SHERIDAN, having been asked what wine he liked best, replied, "The wine of other people."

PEDIGREE:

BLACK EAGLE was sired by Old Black Hawk; g. s., Sherman; g. g. s., Justin Morgan; g. g. g. s., True Britton. Dam by Gray Hambletonian, he by Bis ops Hambletonian, by Imp. Messenger, by Engineer, by Sampson. The dam of Gray Hambletonian was of pure Messenger blood, and imported from England by Dr. Hamblin of Boston. Imp. Messenger's dam was by Turf, grand dam by Regulus, out of a sister of Figurante, by Sterling out of the Fox Mare, the dam of Snap. [See Stud Book.]

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines.

Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862:

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover- cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

he Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower,

(Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter, The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower, cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools

Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.

All kinds of Farming Implements, Hardware and Seeds.

We are determined not to be undersold by any other house in the State; and invite customers to call and examine for themselves at our
